

Behavioral Science

Students who have successfully completed the Behavioral Science portion of the core curriculum will be able to demonstrate the learning outcomes listed below.

Behavioral Science

1. Ability to apply the scientific method to the study of human behavior in various environmental contexts
2. An understanding of human behavior relative to various environmental contexts
3. An understanding of human behavior relative to adapting to various changing environmental contexts